

The Giuliani Guidebook
Good morning--

I'm jealous of those of you out on the road in Iowa today. A few things -- remember to wear sensible shoes, stop by Iowa Republican Party Chairman Ray Hoffmann's Italian restaurant in Sioux City, Luciano's, and make sure your rental car is full of gas before you begin the drive east on Highway 20 tonight. Trust me on that one.

In Council Bluffs early this morning Mayor Giuliani will discuss his judicial philosophy, which as The Federalist Society Co-Founder Steven Calabresi said best yesterday, is rooted in the understanding, "...that the role of a judge is to interpret the law, not to make it."

Check out the Mayor on this issue in his own words at <http://www.joinrudy2008.com/news/misssed/453/> <<http://www.joinrudy2008.com/news/misssed/453/>> , and if you missed the press conference with our Judicial Advisory Committee, read excerpts here: <http://www.joinrudy2008.com/news/misssed/452> <<http://www.joinrudy2008.com/news/misssed/452>>

In the states, we've announced additional staff in South Carolina in advance of our Lexington and Charleston county campaign office openings today with our National Deputy Political Director Rick Wiley. Our campaign offices in Illinois are also holding open houses today to sign up new volunteers.

And finally, our YouTube page is in the spotlight: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qv1-WWFMIEI> <<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qv1-WWFMIEI>>

Best -- Maria

PS. Many of you have commented that the title of my daily email is boring. Over the next few days I'm going to test out some options. You'll get to vote on the best one. Of course, suggestions always welcome.
